Quarterly Commentary as at December 31, 2009

In the fourth quarter, the RBC Select Balanced Portfolio posted a return of 1.7%, compared to 1.5% gain for its benchmark.

Within the fixed-income component, global corporate bonds continued to outperform government securities amid optimism that a global economic recovery was at hand. The RBC Global Corporate Bond Fund was the top performing fixed-income fund advancing 0.4%, followed by the RBC Bond Fund, with a return of 0.3%. The RBC Global Bond Fund lagged, recording flat performance during the period.

Equity markets continued to advance although the pace of returns in U.S. equities has been somewhat slower recently. U.S. mid-cap companies outperformed large-cap, benefitting the RBC U.S. Mid-Cap Equity Fund, which was up 4.2%, relative to the RBC U.S. Equity Fund, which returned 2.2%.

The S&P/TSX Composite Index advanced 3.9%, boosted by Utilities, Industrials and Consumer Staples, while Financials was held back by insurance stocks. As a result of its U.S. exposure, the RBC North American Growth Fund was the top performing fund in the group. Both the RBC

Canadian Equity Fund and the RBC Canadian Dividend Fund failed to keep pace with the Index, gaining 3.3% and 2.1%, respectively.

In Europe, it appears that economies are either bottoming or improving. Asian economies have also recovered significantly, boosted by strong growth in China. Within the Portfolio, the RBC Global Dividend Growth Fund was the top performing international fund, up 3.5%. Both the RBC European Equity Fund and the RBC Asian Equity Fund outperformed the benchmark for the international component of the Portfolio, returning 1.8% and 2.0%, respectively.

Given the fragility of the economic recovery, central banks are widely expected to hold short-term interest rates at rock-bottom levels for at least the next six months. Equity market valuations remain unusually attractive and we increased our overweight in equities in November to reflect this view. Although the current economic environment is characterized by a higher-than-usual level of uncertainty, we are confident that markets will eventually value companies based on their earnings power through the cycle instead of during an economic trough.

Quartile rankings are determined by Morningstar Research Inc., an independent research firm. Quartile rankings are comparisons of the performance of a fund to other funds in a particular category and are subject to change monthly. The quartiles divide the data into four equal segments expressed in terms of rank (1, 2, 3 or 4). This is the Morningstar quartile ranking of Series A units of the Fund as of February 28, 2010.

Morningstar ratings are overall ratings reflecting risk adjusted performance as of February 28, 2010. The ratings are subject to change every month. The ratings are calculated for funds with a minimum of 3 years of performance, calculated from the funds' 1 and 3 year average annual returns measured against a 91-day Treasury Bill return with appropriate fee adjustments. The top 10% of the funds in a category receive 5 stars (high); if the funds fall in the next 22.5%, they receive 4 stars (above average); a place in the middle 35% earns a fund 3 stars (neutral or average); those in the next 22.5% receive 2 stars (below average); and the lowest 10% get 1 star (low). Ratings are just one factor to consider when investing. For more information, please see www.morningstar.ca.
